Fußnoten:

Die WKF Inventarliste Lebensmitteldrogen weist für jeden Eintrag auch den lateinischen Pflanzennamen aus. Es ist gängige Praxis in der Botanik, eine Pflanze durch ihre vollständige wissenschaftliche Bezeichnung, d.h. ihren lateinischen Namen, der aus drei Komponenten zusammensetzt ist - nämlich der Angabe der Gattung, des artspezifischen Epithetons sowie dem (abgekürzten) Namen des Autors, der die fragliche Pflanze zum ersten Mal beschrieben hat – zu spezifizieren. Nur die Angabe des vollständigen wissenschaftlichen Namens erlaubt die eindeutige Spezifikation einer Pflanze. Nachstehende anerkannte Pflanzendatenbanken wurden für die Ermittlung der lateinischen Pflanzennamen, die in der WKF Inventarliste angegeben sind, als Referenzen genutzt:

Weitere Quellen wurden zur Auffindung der korrekten wissenschaftlichen Pflanzenbezeichnung herangezogen, sofern dies notwendig war. In den Fällen, in denen zwei lateinische Bezeichnungen in einem Pflanzeneintrag in der WKF Inventarliste verzeichnet sind, ist der erste Name der sog. „akzeptierte Name“ und der zweite ein wichtiges Synonym zum vorgenannten „akzeptierten Namen“.
